

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention concerns a microscope having an illumination beam path, in which a darkening of the illumination on the subject (21) is achieved by removing, or changing the position of, an optical component.

5

(FIG. 3)